

The National Society for The Visually Handicapped

AlShurouq School for Blind Children

www.nsfvh.org

Welcoming New Students For the Year 2025-2026

The National Society for The Visually Handicapped and Al-Shurouq School warmly welcomed its new students with joy and excitement to mark the beginning of the 2025-2026 academic year. The New students, both in the school and kindergarten, were greeted with enthusiasm. Day One featured an introduction to the school and its facilities, followed by a series of interactive and engaging activities aimed at helping the students relax and settle into their new environment. The atmosphere was lively and welcoming, ensuring that each student felt at ease and eager for the year ahead.

 مدرسة الشروق للمكفوفين
School for Blind Children on Facebook

 P.O.BOX 19924, Jerusalem 91198

 +972-2-276-7973

 +972-2-276-6151

 info@nsfvh.org
fliefelm@nsfvh.org

 www.nsfvh.org

Two Research Papers at the First National Rehabilitation Conference in Palestine

The Psychosocial Therapist Sanabel Hassan and the Arabic Teacher Esraa Abu Ayyash participated in the National Rehabilitation Conference Organized (2025-2026) by Dura Al-Amal Association, where they presented two research papers.

The conference witnessed broad participation from experts, researchers, doctors, and specialists in the fields of community rehabilitation, with presence of Prime Minister Dr. Mohammad Mustafa.

A Gifted Child Summer Camp

A group of students from Al-Shorouq School for the Blind participated in the Gifted Child Camp, by a kind invitation from our friends at Inad Center for Theater and Arts.

The workshops varied between voice training and singing, drama exercises and theatrical performance, expressive dance, as well as drawing and handicraft workshops. The children's talents shone freely in an inclusive and safe environment.

The camp represented a model for a successful inclusive environment, where the students from Al-Shorouq School for the Blind worked side by side with their sighted peers in all activities without any discrimination. This reinforced the concepts of acceptance and diversity, and opened up space for human and spontaneous interaction.

Commemoration of the Prophet Muhammad day at Al-Shorouq School

Al-Shorouq School for the Blind organized a special event to commemorate the Prophet Muhammad's day. The event was meticulously prepared and organized by the Arabic Language and Islamic Studies teacher, Israa Abu Ayash.

The event was centered around an interactive dialogue and educational questions, which focused on the biography of the Prophet Muhammad and the morals taught from his noble life.

At the end of the event, sweets and desserts were distributed, bringing joy to the students and reflecting their happiness on this special occasion.

White Cane Day by Bethlehem Star Lions Club

On a day filled with light and hope, the members of the Lions club visited Al-Shorouq School for the Blind to create an unforgettable day with its children. The visit was not just an event, but a meeting of hearts that shine despite the absence of sight.

All members shared laughter and dance with the children, while a clown added an atmosphere of joy and fun to the schoolyard. Then, everyone gathered around a special barbecue bringing together the children, teachers, and members around a table filled with human warmth.

At the end of the day, gifts were distributed by the Lions club members accompanied by unforgettable smiles and a clear message: True light resides in the heart.

The Integration Program

As part of the effective partnership and direct coordination with the schools in the northern, central, and southern districts of Hebron Governorate, the Integration Program Coordinator for students with visual impairments at the Al-Shorouq Association for the Visually Impaired, Sanabel Hassan, followed up with a group of integrated students in schools through coordination and collaboration with school principals.

The follow-up included guiding and training teachers on appropriate teaching strategies for visually impaired students, as well as adapting worksheets and midterm exams to meet their needs. Additionally, the use of screen-reading computers was introduced as one of the most effective educational tools to support the learning of blind students in the classroom.

Al-Shorouq Students Celebrate Palestinian Heritage Day

The students of Al-Shorouq School for the Blind celebrated Palestinian Heritage Day, which falls on the 7th of October each year, with an event filled with the rich atmosphere of Palestinian folk traditions.

The event highlighted the importance of Palestinian heritage and its key landmarks. The efforts were focused on strengthening the students connection to their homeland and fostering a sense of pride in their culture and the history of their ancestors.

A Day of Music

A group of musicians from the Kamanjati Association visited Al-Shorouq School for the Blind, where they performed a series of musical and vocal pieces for the students.

They shared with the students traditional and folk songs, bringing joy and smiles to their faces. The visit created a beautiful atmosphere of musical connection, offering the students a unique opportunity to experience the power of music and cultural expression, while fostering an inclusive and joyful environment.

